

Abstract

A life management skills enhancement program (1) is designed to provide life management and vocational skills to young people

5

The program (1) includes a sub-program of curriculum-based activities (1.1), which activities in turn include physical activities (1.1.1) and intellectual activities (1.1.2).

- 10 There is a funding sub-program (1.2) which operates with the aim of making the program self-funding.

There is a linking sub-program (1.3), which links together all the organisations and other entities which are part of the program (1).
